SPOTLIGHTS

ALEX KRANIAS

Meet our talented NGT360 alum, Alexander Kranias, a Georgia Tech Computer Science student. He recently interned with Raymond James' Innovation Team. We congratulate Alex on a successful internship! He has been invited back for next summer to further his career development & work in a different role for RJ.

Alex's role as an advisor, alumni, & ambassador for NGT360 has enriched the program and has provided additional opportunities for students and alumni. We wish him the best in his future endeavors.

ALUMNI GROUP

We are delighted to officially launch the NGT 360 Alumni Group! As valued members of our community, these alumni now have the opportunity to connect with like-minded professionals who have successfully completed NGT 360 programs. Join the LinkedIn group to access career preparation resources, engage in meaningful discussions, and leverage the resources of the program!

CERTIFIED PROJECT OFFICER PROGRAM

We're excited to share a new certification to our lineup – the Certified Project Officer \(CPO\) program. As we step into the new season, we're thrilled to offer this fresh opportunity to all our students. The CPO certification is designed to equip you with the skills to excel in project management. This program provides a comprehensive understanding of effective project execution, team collaboration, and efficient resource management. It definitely is great to have on the resume and provides sought out skills by industry. Thank you DOLcoach for providing NGT360 with this programming!

NGT360 SCALING UP

In the coming weeks, we will be sending out a dedicated email to all our esteemed members of the business community, mentors, judges and sponsors. This email will provide an exclusive preview of the new initiatives and enhancements that we are introducing to NGT 360. NGT 360's evolution wouldn't be possible without your continuous support and belief in our mission. Together, we are shaping the future of entrepreneurship.
